NIC CUDBY

PROJECT MANAGER

Nic has over 15 years construction experience gained in New Zealand and the United Kingdom. Nic started his career on the tools before moving into project coordination, site foreman and subsequently project management roles. With fantastic communication skills, planning, time management and problem solving abilities, Nic has the range of skills and experience required to deliver outstanding results for our clients. Nic is extremely competent with managing client relationships, design review, and managing project programmes and budgets. He excels in building teams on complex projects, which make him an exceptional Project Manager and a highly valued member of the Novasteel team.

RESPONSIBILITIES

As Project Manager, Nic is responsible for the overall management of his projects, with support from the Procurement and Commercial Management team. Nic manages key relationships with consultants, clients and site based construction teams. He will work closely with the client team to ensure the timely and efficient delivery of a high quality project, that is able to be celebrated by all involved.
